

JOUR 4251

Advertising and behavior change (Principles of compliance) - Ch 7 part 2

Principles of compliance

- Reciprocity
- Commitment/consistency
- Social validation (consensus)
- Friendship/Liking
- Scarcity
- Authority
- Confusion

Reciprocity principle

Door-in-the-face technique

Needs to be ONE person asking. Doesn't work if different people ask.

Reciprocity principle

That's not all technique

Reduced price

Added value to fixed price (make-up bonus)

Infomercials: Wait, that's not all. If you call now, we will add..

REMEMBER: works when mindless. Not thinking.

Commitment/consistency

- Foot-in-the-door technique
 - Small request followed with big target request
- Bait-and-switch technique
 - Induce commitment and then remove the inducements that generated commitment
- Low-ball technique
 - Change terms after commitment
- Four walls technique
 - Yes, yes, yes => make commitment

Social validation (consensus)

Social validation

Social proof

We turn to others for assessing the merits of a message or offer.

Others like me or whose opinion I value think it's a good choice

Reference groups:

A person/group act as agents of social proof. They communicate standards.

Confusion Principle

Slightly confuse consumer can help make sales

Disrupt then reframe technique

200 pennies, instead of $2

It disrupts our ability to counterargue

Think like an advertiser!

1. Pick a product
2. Choose one of the principles of compliance
3. Make an ad for this product using the principle

- Reciprocity principle
- Commitment/consistency
- Social validation (consensus)
- Liking
- Scarcity
- Confusion
- Authority

What's next?

- Submit reading response #9 on new readings
 - Check out two book chapters by Schiffman et al. (Library Course page)
 - Deadline April 9
- Assignment #4 on behavior is due by April 23